

INDEPENDENCE DAY DEATH TOLL REACHES 136

UPPER FLOOR OF STATE HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

THIRD BLAZE ON STATE GROUNDS IN TWO YEARS

Origin Of Flames Not Determined By Officials

Springfield, Ill., July 4.—(P)—A fourth of July fire in an upper floor of the Illinois state house was extinguished today with damage limited to $2,500 from flames and water. It was the third and least disastrous fire on the capitol grounds in less than two years.

Governor Horner and other officials who rushed to the state house, which was almost deserted for the holiday, said the origin of the flames was not determined. They indicated it might have been defective wiring.

Almost two years ago, a Sunday fire in the same part of the south wing of the capitol building caused $100,000 damage under almost identical conditions.

The state arsenal, a block away, was burned to the ground on a Sunday, in February, 1934. The loss then was nearly $1,000,000. A small boy confessed that he set that fire.

Surveying the damage, Mr. Horner expressed appreciation for the quick work of the Springfield fire department, which confined the flames this morning to one fifth floor room in the south wing.

Some of the state architect's records stored in filing cases, and chairs and tables used by Democratic house stenographers were destroyed.

More damage was caused by water, which seeped through the floors and fell into the house of representatives chamber. The legislature, which adjourned last Saturday, appropriated $45,000 to repair water damage to the house chamber from the 1933 fire.

The historic limestone capitol is nearly 70 years old. Officials have never established the origin of the fire two years ago, which burned in the abbreviated fifth and sixth floor section of the south wing. The flames then were centered around the state architect's office, but water thrown by the fire department soaked through the house chamber into second floor offices.

An appropriation of $1,000,000 to reconstruct the state arsenal was voted by the legislature before it adjourned. The arsenal fire destroyed armament and state and federal records and other property.

The Marshal Sherman V. Coultas solved the mystery of the arsenal fire by getting a confession from ten-year-old Cecil Kiper, who said he liked to watch flames and had set several small blazes. The boy, whose mother had been divorced, was sent to a New Mexico farm to live with his father and step-mother.

Man Drowns in Wisconsin With $1550 in Pocket

Egerton, Wis., July 4.—(P)—With $1,550 in his pockets, Frank Mach, 50, of Chicago and Egerton, Wis., drowned today when he waded into the Rock river near the Indian Ford dam, five miles from here, to untangle a fishline.

Undersheriffs who recovered the body brought it to Janesville, the county seat. The sheriff's department there reported that so far it had been unable to determine why he was carrying so much money.

Mach was employed as a caretaker at an estate near here.

FOUR FEDERAL PROJECTS HAVE BEEN STARTED

Few Hundred Men Have Been Given Employment

Washington, July 4.—(P)—Despite the hundreds of millions of dollars put aside for work relief projects, officials disclosed today that only four of the new ones approved actually have been started.

Only a few hundred men they added, so far have been given work.

At the same time, however, they said a great amount of detail was necessary in rounding plans into final shape for starting work and that President Roosevelt had said he did not expect the program to reach its peak until mid-November.

The four projects under the new program on which men have actually been put to work were named by informed officials as:

The war department's upper Mississippi channel project.

An agriculture department endeavor to eradicate insect pests in several New England states.

A war department project on the Ohio in West Virginia.

The Passamaquoddy, Maine, Tidewatering work.

The upper Mississippi and Passamaquoddy works have a capacity for giving jobs to several thousand men after they get fully underway. But officials said first stages of the work have provided jobs for just a few. Past estimates have set the number that would be employed at Passamaquoddy alone at 15,000 men.

In addition to the men taken from relief rolls for these four projects, officials said quite a few of the jobs being carried on under the old emergency relief program had been transferred bodily to the new set-up.

GREENE COUNTY WOMAN IS HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Mrs. Guy Staley Jumps From Car, Severely Injures Her Head

White Hall, July 4.—Mrs. Guy Staley of Roodhouse sustained a severe scalp wound and a possible fracture of the skull yesterday when she leaped from an automobile enroute from Roodhouse to this city. Mrs. Staley in company with her daughter and Miss Maxine Crabtree, the two girls about fifteen years of age, was hitch-hiking toward White Hall on the south hard road. An automobile containing a group of men offered to give them a "lift," and the hikers accepted. The report of the physician attending Mrs. Staley is that the men "got smart," and the women leaped from the car. The men did not stop it is said but the two girls managed to get out of the auto unharmed.

Mrs. Staley was picked up by a truck driver and taken to the White Hall hospital where she was treated by Dr. Paul Bauer. At eight o'clock last night she was reported to be still unconscious.

The White Hall police are said to know the names of the men involved but would give no definite information last night.

FUNERAL NOTICE
Funeral services for Mrs. Ara Henson will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at the Baptist church in Hettick. Services will be held at 12 o'clock at the residence near Strawn's Crossing.

HOUSE LEADERS MAP TAX PLANS WITH ROOSEVELT

May Override Delay Tactics Of The Re- publicans

Washington, July 4.—(P)—Definite plans to override republican delay tactics and enact President Roosevelt's wealth tax program and the Guffy coal bill before congress adjourns were shaped today at a White House conference.

Coincident with word that Mr. Roosevelt expects to leave the tax-drafting to congress, the chief executive received assurances from democratic members that the house ways and means committee would give prompt action both to the revenue measure and to the Guffy bill to set up a "little NRA" for the coal industry.

The agreement reached was believed to spell an overwhelming defeat for Senator Hastings' (R-De) drive for a special tax session of congress in the fall.

Immediately after the White House conference meeting which lasted more than two hours, chairman Doughton (D-NC) issued the formal call for opening tax bill hearings before the ways and means committee Monday, with treasury experts to be called as the first witnesses.

Emphasizing that no bill would be before the committee, Doughton said, nevertheless, that a report being prepared by the Hill sub-committee would be completed in time to form a basis for the hearings.

Saying that "we want to get full information before framing a tax bill," Doughton estimated hearings would last from "ten days to two weeks." He said the committee might hold night sessions on the Guffy coal bill if any other sub-committee reports next week.

Just a guess, adjournment will come between August 15 and September 1, under this program," Doughton said.

He added that it was planned to rush the Guffy coal bill through before August 1, when soft coal mine wage and hour agreements expire and another strike threat may arise.

U. S. OFFICIALS ARE SILENT ON ETHIOPIA PLEA

Administration Faced With Most Delicate Problem

By Lloyd A. Lehrbas, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, July 4.—(P)—Faced with one of the most delicate international problems of this administration, Roosevelt diplomatic officials tonight pondered but kept silent upon the plea of Haile Selassie I, emperor of Ethiopia, for aid in the Italo-Ethiopian rift.

The psychologically-timed, independence-day appeal for this country to invoke the Kellogg-Brand pact to outlaw war concededly held potentialities for involving the United States in a touchy situation.

State department officials reported late today they had not yet received official word of the note handed to William Perry George, the American charge d'affaires at Addis Ababa. One communications officer held its arrival unlikely before tomorrow.

On these grounds, Secretary Hull and other American officials declined any comment on what, if any, action might be taken by the United States.

There was no denial here, however, that the "king of kings" adroit diplomatic maneuver, in the wake of apparently unsuccessful appeals to the League of Nations and Great Britain, might create international repercussions as loud as those following invocation of the pact in the Manchurian episode.

The United States has twice assumed the leadership in diplomatic representations to prevent hostilities since the Kellogg-Brand pact—which denounces war as an instrument of national policy and pledges each nation to settle all disputes by peaceful means—was signed in Paris in August, 1929.

NEBRASKANS HURT IN TRUCK MISHAP

M. W. Allen and M. Wetmore, both of Auburn, Neb., suffered injuries when their truck overturned near here Thursday. They were taken to Our Saviour's hospital where Allen was treated for lacerations and it was found Wetmore had suffered numerous bruises.

Richard Wigenant of this city was taken to Our Saviour's hospital suffering from injuries said to have been received while swimming. The extent of his injuries were not determined yesterday.

Ethiopia Asks America to Find Way to Make Italy Observe Her Obligations

Leader in Fight on AAA Taxes

Addis Ababa, July 4.—(P)—Ethiopia chose America's Independence Day today to ask the United States to find some way to make Italy observe her obligations under the Kellogg pact, by which she renounced war as an instrument of national policy.

A five-page note delivered to William Perry George, United States charge d'affaires here, outlined the development of the Italo-Ethiopian controversy and reasserted Ethiopia's contention that Italy has warlike intentions aimed at the conquest of the African empire.

The massing of men and munitions in Italy's African colonies, the note contended, indicates that Ethiopia's independence is threatened.

Emperor Haile Selassie's oft-expressed determination to defend the political independence of his territory by all legal means without slackening efforts toward peaceful settlement of issues involved was reiterated in the communication.

Under the Kellogg-Brand pact, properly called "the general pact for the renunciation of war," the United States, Germany, Belgium, France, Great Britain and her dominions, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Poland and Czechoslovakia renounced war as an instrument of national policy and agreed that disputes among them should be settled by peaceful means. It was signed at Paris Aug. 27, 1928.

Delivery of the note to the American representatives came shortly after the emperor, in a statement to the Associated Press, insisted that Ethiopia did not want war with Italy but would do her duty in case of armed conflict.

A rumored battle between Italian and Ethiopian frontier forces, in which casualties were reported to have been heavy, remained without confirmation.

Meanwhile, authorities here revealed that Ethiopia was having trouble getting munitions from European exporters. Belgium assertedly having embargoed 7,500,000 cartridges after 2,500,000 of an order for 10,000,000 had been shipped.

DANCER ADMITS KILLING MATE DURING FIGHT

Marjorie Rose Claims She "Hit" Husband With Knife

Chicago, July 4.—(P)—A confession by Mrs. Marjorie Rose, 22-year-old night club dancer, that she killed her husband, Walter, 34, by "hitting him" with a long bladed knife during a struggle in their apartment was announced today by Police Capt. William O'Brien.

Rose, a cook, was found dead early today amid the overturned furnishings of their home, with a woman's finger nail file lying near his body.

Officers at first believed he had been stabbed to death with the file, but their search uncovered a butcher knife, with a 10-inch blade.

They questioned Mrs. Rose who at first told them she returned from work, found her husband intoxicated and after a quarrel, which he went out alone to a night club. The reconciliation, however, was closed last night.

After several hours questioning of the dancer, Captain O'Brien quoted her as saying:

"We were quarreling and he said, 'You won't be dancing on your toes much longer.' I went to a tavern, got a drink and came home. He got a knife and started chasing me around the room. I scuffled with him and he twisted my wrists, but I finally got the knife away. I said, 'Now it's my turn; may the best man win.'"

O'Brien said Mrs. Rose then related she swung the knife at her husband, "hitting him." An autopsy revealed the blade was driven deep into Rose's chest, penetrating the right lung. Mrs. Rose's right hand was cut and her body was dotted with bruises and minor cuts.

HUEY P. LONG TO STRENGTHEN DICTATORSHIP

Special Session Of Legislature Has Been Called

Baton Rouge, La., July 4.—(P)—The call for Huey P. Long's Independence Day special session of the legislature was supplemented tonight to include legislation affecting the office of District Attorney Eugene Stanley of New Orleans, one of Long's arch political foes.

As legislators gathered in the state house tonight for their seventh assembly in a year, Governor O. K. Allen again supplemented his original session call providing for fresh "dictator" measures.

Long has repeatedly charged Stanley was unfit to hold the office of district attorney, but tonight's action was the first actual legislative move taken against him. The item provided for legislation "relative to the office of district attorney for the parish of Orleans."

Long amused himself today by pelting messages at President Roosevelt and other political enemies.

Long went into gleeful detail over the measures he would introduce to strengthen his state "dictatorship" and further embarrass the New Orleans administration of his old political enemy, Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley.

Martial law, proclaimed in January when citizens took up arms against Long's "dictatorship," was still in effect, but only a handful of soldiers were in the capital city and none was in evidence at the state house.

Two other special sessions this year were held with National Guardsmen standing at the House and Senate doors with riot guns and automatic rifles. Three special sessions were held last year after the regular session last summer.

Long said that the present meeting would last only five days, the constitutional minimum, and that he would return to Washington Monday.

During the day Long dispatched to President Roosevelt a presumably satirical communication saying he would have enacted a state law providing jail terms for persons using federal money for political purposes, thus bolstering the president's "recent call that all politics be kept out of the spending of government relief money."

M. W. GOODRICH USED HAMMER TO KILL GIRL

Waives Extradition And Will Be Taken To Detroit

New York, July 4.—(P)—Evincing readiness to return to Detroit and pay "a debt to society," Merton Ward Goodrich, 27-year-old trap drummer, formally waived extradition to Michigan today and will be returned tomorrow to face an indictment for the psychopathic trunk murder of 11-year-old Lillian Gallagher.

A like waiver of extradition was made by Goodrich's crippled wife, Florence, held by New York police on a homicide charge of "acting on concert" and wanted as a material witness in the Gallagher killing last September 20.

His gaunt, lined face showing the effects of a sleepless night, Goodrich was subjected to renewed questioning by New York and Detroit authorities after he and his wife appeared for formal extradition proceedings at the home of general sessions Judge Morris Koenig.

Detectives John Kaiser said Goodrich added a "hammer angle" to his previous confession, in which he was quoted as admitting he lured the Gallagher girl to his rooms in Detroit for the purpose of assaulting her, but then killed her after she fell in attempted flight and stuffed her body in a trunk.

"He told us he saw the girl in the street selling punch board chances," Kaiser said, "and he asked her to come to his apartment for some books. He said he tried to attack her, but she ran screaming."

"Then he said he caught her and pulled her onto the divan, but she fought and he hit her with a hammer."

MOTOR MISHAPS RESULT IN 54 BEING KILLED

Fifty-Two Persons Drowned During Day

By The Associated Press
The nation counted its dead in Independence Day accidents at 91 last (Thursday) night, with the toll certain to leap as homemade bound excursionists filled the nation's highways.

One hundred seventy-seven persons were accidentally killed on the Fourth last year.

An Associated Press survey revealed the "safe and sane Fourth" movement had held fatalities to two. Rockets and firecrackers cost four lives last year.

In Chicago, Chester Bullwinkle, 17, was killed when a cannon cracker he tossed into the air fell on his chest and exploded. A boy was killed in Cincinnati by a bullet which police believed was fired by a careless celebrator.

One California resident was killed accidentally by a pistol shot; fireworks claimed a life in Kansas and another met death from an explosion in Virginia.

But traffic mishaps and drownings, as in recent years, were the major factors in dimming the nation's merriment on the 150th anniversary of its birth. Fifty-four persons were killed in traffic and 52 drowned.

Other accidents attending the Fourth claimed 20 deaths. Plane crashes cost one life each in Illinois, Oklahoma and Indiana.

A 12-year-old boy was killed at the Ho-Ho-Kus (N. J.) speedway when a wheel of a racing automobile spun loose and felled him. Two young Toledo, O., sisters drowned together in the Maumee river. Three auto racers were killed in Pennsylvania and a fourth in Georgia.

A hunting fatality in Oklahoma and a gasoline explosion in Iowa added to the toll. Lightning killed one person in Indiana, heat two in Minnesota.

Hundreds suffered various degrees of burns or lost fingers, toes or eyes in premature explosions of fireworks.

Unusual Diplomacy

Diplomacy is rather a cold-blooded game, in which each nation tries to further its own interest and does not scruple to do so at the expense of nations. But something unusual has occurred in the diplomatic world. It happened in Rome when Sir Anthony Eden of Britain met Mussolini of Italy. Eden offered to give up a strip of British Somaliland in Africa to Ethiopia to give that country access to the sea, in return for any concessions Ethiopia might make to Italy. For one nation to offer to sacrifice its own territory to maintain peace is rare indeed. The stakes must be great.

Captain Eden used a clever sales talk with the fascist premier. He pointed out that a war in Africa might weaken fascist Italy and thus endanger the peace of Europe. He argued that France and England are depending on a strong fascist Italy to help maintain that peace.

He also explained that Italy might find the war longer than expected. The might even lose to the forces of Haile Selassie, which would weaken the rule of white men in all Africa, causing natives to revolt in the colonies.

But Mussolini would have none of the arguments. He turned down the proposal to sacrifice British territory. He appeared determined to pursue his course of conquest in Africa at all costs, a decision which may mark a turning point in his career; for the British lion has done about all the purring that may be expected of him.

Cars and Butterflies

In this world of increasing complexities things of no relation one to another often become strangely linked. Such is the situation with motor cars and butterflies. The larger and slower-moving varieties of butterflies are being caught by thousands in the radiators of fast-moving autos.

The radiator of a car recently parked on a street netted eleven species of butterflies, from the large gorgeous monarchs to the flitting viceroys. Thus many of the rarer species are being destroyed in large numbers by motor traffic.

Once caught in the radiator, the speed of the car holds the butterfly helpless until it dies. The heat generated by the motor helps finish off the victim. Because the air which circulates thru the radiator shield is needed to cool the region, there is no way of protecting the butterflies with anything that would turn them aside. However, when it is considered that highways occupy only a small area in comparison with the woods and fields in which the butterflies live, the toll exacted may not greatly decrease the numbers of the more prolific species. The car radiator may afford collectors of butterflies a new and efficient method of capturing their specimens.

Helpful Pigeonhole

Resting quietly in the files of a senate committee is the Copeland-Bland ship subsidy bill. Its foes in the Senate vow it will never get out of the pigeonhole, because it is about the most vicious piece of legislation that has ever been before Congress.

Some years ago while in college we debated the question of ship subsidies. At that time it seemed a harmless thought of aid to a practical means of aiding our merchant marine. Other nations had them and were able to keep most of the commerce of the world away from American bottoms.

But the attempt to enact a ship subsidy in the present Congress has resulted in a bill which creates several varieties of subsidy and makes it possible for the government to furnish about 85 percent of the operating expenses of some of the big shipping lines. The bill was put thru the House by a rather narrow margin. When it was in committee Congressman Moran appeared to protest against it. He was walloped about by advocates of the measure from the shipping districts who hoped to slip the bill thru without a fight. But Moran held to his exposure and gave the bill a black eye.

Now the bill has gone to the Senate, where members are thoroughly aroused as to its possibilities for graft and corruption. Even Senator Copeland, one of its sponsors, doubts that it will pass. Others are just as sure it will not even get out of committee.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK
By
Edson R. Waite

It is said that the management of money is nothing less than the arrest of the natural operation of the laws of supply and demand and it is a long and difficult step from securing stability in exchange values to measuring currencies in terms of commodities.

Unless the different countries of the world can trade freely with one another and the surplus of one can be used through the channels of trade and investment to increase the productivity of others, each country will have to remain more dependent on itself and the state of the world will become as unfortunate as the condition of a community where individuals cannot trade with one another or lend or borrow between themselves.

INTO BORDERS
DEATH TODAYJacksonville Woman Killed
By Alton Train Here
Thursday

An inquiry into the death of Mrs. Carl Borders, 1103 South East street, who stepped to her death in front of a train Thursday, will be held today at 12 o'clock at the Gillham Funeral Home. Mrs. Borders met death when she was struck by an Alton train about 500 feet north of the Vandalla Road crossing, near Nichols Park, yesterday morning.

The self-imposed tragedy ended an all-night search for the 25 year old mother, who suffered a nervous breakdown recently. She disappeared from the home of her mother, Mrs. Ella Phelps, at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night, clad only in pajamas and a coat.

When picked up from the tracks Mrs. Borders was shoeless. She had walked from her mother's home to a point near the park, a distance of more than a mile.

Search Lake Area
While police and firemen searched in the vicinity of Lake Mauvalsterre, Mrs. Borders is believed to have wandered along the railroad tracks or stopped in weeds and underbrush near the city limits. As far as could be learned, she was not seen from the time of her disappearance until she appeared in front of the northbound train.

Engineer Harvey Sorrells of Roadhouse in charge of the train due here at 8:30 o'clock, is believed to have been the only witness to the tragedy.

Engineer Sees Tragedy
He said he saw a woman walk on the tracks. Suddenly she stopped and bent over as if to await death. The train swept over her before the engineer could bring it to a halt.

The engineer and Conductor Wilmoth of Bloomington, were soon at the body; the woman exhibiting no signs of life. Her head was crushed and there were other numerous cuts and bruises. She was not dismembered.

The remains were placed aboard the train and taken to the Alton station, where Coroner Elmer Sample began an official investigation. Later the body was taken to the Gillham Funeral home.

Members of the train crew went on to Bloomington, but the engineer was asked to report at noon Friday for the inquest. A written statement will be taken from the engineer.

Leaves Small Child
The tragedy put an end to arrangements for dragging Lake Mauvalsterre in the vicinity of the dam. Mrs. Borders, who was the mother of a four months old infant Gail Helen and a three year old son Bradford, was known to have suicidal tendencies. Two weeks ago, it is reported, she attempted to take her life by inhaling gas.

A report to the police of her absence was made by relatives late Wednesday night. The search centered around the lake but nothing was found to indicate that she had gone there.

When Mrs. Borders left home she wore only scanty attire and shoes. From the first it was feared that she intended self-destruction.

The remains were not identified until James L. Woods, a brother-in-law, went to the railroad station. A glance told him that it was Mrs. Borders.

The decedent has been living in Casper, Wyoming, where her husband was notified by wire of the tragedy. She is reported to have suffered a nervous disorder several months ago and came to the home of her mother for a rest. She is a sister of Mrs. Gameda Phelps Woods.

Mrs. Borders is survived by her husband, two children, mother and three brothers, Clarence Phelps of Elgin; Otto Phelps of Elgin and Harry Phelps of Chicago and one sister, Mrs. James L. Wood of this city. She was the daughter of Thomas and Ella Guthrie Phelps.

Georgia Governor
Attacks Roosevelt;
Urges SovereigntyEmergency Legislation Has Retarded Recovery, He Says in Speech

Canton, Ga.—(P)—Governor Eugene Talmadge raised the issue of state's rights today in a bitter speech against the Roosevelt administration.

The governor made what many observers believe to be a bid for Georgia's vote against Mr. Roosevelt's re-nomination in 1936.

"State's rights is the bulwark of protection for the people of Georgia," he said in a prepared address. "It is also the bulwark of protection for the people in New York, Maine, California, Oregon, and all of the other states of the union."

"So when the time ever comes for the sovereignty of the several states of this union to be ignored and forgotten, then this union is ready for dissolution. . . ."

Governor Talmadge said experimental legislation of President Roosevelt had been a failure, had retarded progress, and called for immediate abandonment of the entire program "as the only road to recovery."

The agricultural program with its processing taxes, he said, "had bled the people white" and while the taxes filled the national treasury "with more money than the wildest dreams of Croesus," the nation was faced with famine and had to turn to multiplied imports to meet demands for products "the present administration deliberately destroyed."

Preserve Liberty
Herbert Hoover
Urges In Speech

Grass Valley, Calif.—(AP)—Preservation of individual liberty is the mission of America, former President Herbert Hoover declared here today in a Fourth of July address.

Returning to the scenes of his early career as a student mining engineer, Mr. Hoover in a prepared talk praised the American concept of liberty as voiced in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and warned his audience that a worldwide attack upon individual liberty had reached a crisis.

"America has today a transcendent mission to civilization far beyond our own safety," he declared. "It is our high duty to hold bright the light of individual liberty. From that light alone can come the material and spiritual redemption of mankind."

The former executive asserted individual liberty already had ceased to exist in "whole nations," with populations totaling 500,000,000 suffering from "discouragement and disillusion" and "with a sort of slave psychology, men would rather be safe than free. And it has turned out they are not safe," he added.

America's safety from attacks upon liberty, he said, "lies in holding fast to the fundamentals of the great constitutional charter of our liberties," he continued.

"That is no mere legalistic parchment. It is an immortal expression of the spirit of men who would be forever free. It is the invisible sentinel which guards the door of every home from the invasion of coercion, intimidation, and fear. . . . Its great list of freedoms should be a part of our daily thought, third only to the Ten Commandments and The Sermon on the Mount. . . ."

"It is not reactionary to hold fast to these fundamentals, to oppose tyranny, and to support liberty. We realize that life is different in 1935 from 1776. The functions of government must always be expanded to restrain the strong and protect the weak. That is the preservation of liberty itself."

"These are times for genuine progressive action—that we recover prosperity and that we secure the better distribution among all the people of the abundance which has been the product of our system of liberty. But there are things that must be permanent if we would attain these purposes. The first of these is liberty."

Predict President
Will Veto Utility
Measure from HouseWants "Death Sentence" for Unnecessary Holding Companies, Claim

Washington.—(P)—A new prediction that the utilities bill probably will be vetoed if it goes to President Roosevelt without the "death sentence" for holding companies was made today. This development occurred as opposing forces prepared for another conflict on the measure Monday.

"I am morally certain," said Chairman Wheeler (D-Mont.) of the Senate interstate commerce committee, "that the president will veto the bill if it is sent up to him without the death sentence."

Wheeler is a sponsor of the bill which passed the Senate in a form satisfactory to the administration. The House, however, struck out a provision for mandatory abolition of "unnecessary" holding companies and voted to give the securities commission discretionary authority to kill them or let them live.

Beginning next Monday, a new conflict will start. Opponents of the death sentence will try to have the Senate concur in the House amendments immediately. Wheeler and the other administration forces hope to send the legislation to a conference of senators and representatives in an effort to obtain a result more satisfactory to Mr. Roosevelt.

Meanwhile, two investigations of "lobbying" for and against the bill were shaping up. Speaker Byrns said that an inquiry which the House rules committee will open Monday will be "full, fair, thorough, and impartial."

This declaration followed a remark by one legislator prominent in the utilities fight, who predicted privately that the House inquiry might be a "white-wash," with the Senate making the "real" investigation later.

Republicans Object
To Limited DebateClaim Democrats are Balking
Free Debate on Issues of the Day

Washington.—(P)—A quarrel over charges of "censorship" has broken out in the house.

Rep. Cullen (R. N. Y.) said Democrats are in a "conspiracy" to prevent Republicans "from debating issues of the day." The Republicans, he said, have to tell Democratic leaders what they plan to talk about before they can get the floor.

"If it is a bit political, they won't let us get unanimous consent to speak," he said.

Rep. Taylor of Colorado, acting Democratic leader, denied any "hard and fast rule" was in effect, but added that "some of those fresh guys" speak to the galleries and "we are going to cut them short as long as there is business to be gotten out."

Sisters in Music
Recital at QuineyArtists Well Known in This City Win Many Admirers
in Recent Program

From The Quiney Herald-Whig.

An unusual privilege was given members of the Quiney Music club Sunday afternoon in hearing a recital by two out-of-town artists, Mrs. Chas. Turner, pianist, and her sister, Miss Esther Duncan, soprano, both of Mt. Sterling. Both are musicians by talent, training and experience, and they presented a concert program that won the highest praise from the appreciative audience present.

The program was choice in the selection made of classical and modern compositions. Mrs. Turner proved her capability at the start in playing "Nocturne No. 2 in D Major" by Schumann. Precision in technique and beautiful interpretations marked her numbers. A modern group included a lovely number, "Gavotte" by Charles J. Bardell, dean of the college in Winston-Salem, N. C., where Mrs. Turner was formerly a teacher.

Miss Duncan has a voice of powerful and beautiful qualities and her interpretations, too, were lovely. Mrs. Turner played the accompaniment for Miss Duncan. Their program was given as announced in Sunday's Herald-Whig.

Mrs. Turner, who is the wife of a Mt. Sterling attorney, taught in the conservatory in Jacksonville before going to North Carolina. Miss Duncan is supervisor of music in the Mt. Sterling schools and also has private pupils.

STAR SPLITS

San Jose, Calif., July 4.—(P)—The exploding star, Nova Hercules, has split into two parts, it was discovered early today by Professor Gerrit P. Kuiper of Lick Observatory.

The parts are nearly of the same brightness and are only two-tenths of one second of arc apart, he reported.

The two components, as seen through the 36-inch telescope, looked sharp and stellar.

Because it takes light about 1,000 years to travel to the earth from Nova Hercules, the division of the star seen today actually occurred some ten centuries ago.

Fourth of July is Day of Leisure at Camp Jacksonville

CCC Boys Take Day Off and Celebrate Holiday in Any Way Desired

Thirty bronze-backed boys at Jacksonville's CCC camp on Caldwell street, celebrated the Fourth of July by knocking off from their regular duties and enjoying the day in much the same fashion as other young men who are not attached to semi-military service.

Well-tanned by work in the sun during the past month and radiating health from their outdoor life, the enrollees took their time about rolling out Thursday morning because it was a holiday. The boys were privileged to do anything or go anywhere so long as they remained in the community.

Some of them went swimming at Nichols park yesterday morning. Most of them attended the celebration at the hospital Thursday afternoon. Friday morning they will return to the job of preparing the camp site for arrival of more than one hundred additional enrollees.

The thirty men now on the job at the tented colony compose an advance detail under command of Lieut. C. G. Clavin. They are excavating for sewerage and getting the ground ready for erection of barracks. When the larger contingent arrives the camp will be under direction of Lieut. F. L. Merriman who is now stationed at Rushville.

Half of the 200 men to be assigned to the local camp will come from Rushville; the remainder from new enlistments.

It is reported unofficially here that the contract for materials has been

Many Homes Display Stars and Stripes

Flag Floats Throughout City as Citizens Strive for Patriotic Observance

Jacksonville responded with patriotism to the proclamation of Mayor Blackburn to display the flag, not only in the business district but in the residential parts of the city.

A representative of the Rev. James Caldwell Chapter D.A.R. in response to a request of the city chairman made a tour of the city and observed a fine display of flags at the homes of many citizens.

The trip up West College was particularly pleasing. This street surpasses all others in the number of national emblems displayed. West Beecher avenue also showed many beautiful flags.

There is no finer sight to American eyes than the American flag afloat in the breeze and yesterday, on its 158th birthday it stood for loyalty, truth and honor. Whatever it has defended for the nation in the past, it is the mission of all citizens to maintain. The uncovered head and gesture of salutation are privileges which are enviable riches.

The field should be displayed to the left of the observer from the street.

Summer Colds are Threat to Health

Medical Committee Issues Warning on Danger of Common Ailment

A warning against "summer colds" was issued Thursday by the Medical Committee of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association. Unseasonal weather and suddenly changing temperatures were pointed out as predisposing causes.

"Wet feet, sudden chilling, and failure to adapt clothing to suit the needs of the weather, frequently cause susceptible persons to catch cold even in the summer time. Although the common cold is usually thought of as a fall or winter time ailment, there is no reason when it will not attack if precautions are not observed," the committee states.

Because of the relation of tuberculosis to the common cold, those who catch cold easily are advised to see their doctor. Ordinary household remedies and the advice of friends and neighbors should not be relied on in the treatment of a cold.

"Clinical observation shows clearly that exposure to cold, or chilling the body, very often precedes the onset of active symptoms of pulmonary tuberculosis. Of course, chilling alone cannot produce tuberculosis disease, but when we bear in mind that practically everybody has tubercle bacilli in some part of the respiratory tract, we can readily understand that changes caused by exposure or colds may be instrumental in preparing favorable soil for the reactivation of dormant tubercle bacilli," the Medical Committee says.

The bulletin states that patients who are being treated for tuberculosis especially should be careful to avoid catching cold. Many patients have been known to suffer serious relapses following the onset of a cold.

DOWN WAVERLY WAY

Centennial Year Sketches of Morgan
County's Second City

By MRS. GEO. P. ROMANG
Just one hundred years ago Waverly was pioneered by a small band of earnest young men and women from Warren, Connecticut. All through the years these early settlers have left their influence over the town. Believe it or not, Waverly is not just another small town. She is in many ways different and a town whose inhabitants have been for the most part cultured and with high ideals. In looking over some old letters written in Warren, Connecticut March 30th, 1835 to friends in Waverly, we find perhaps the secret of this high idealism. In one letter written upon the day on which two of the young men were leaving for the west we find these words:

"Theodore Curtis and Elisha Tanner have this day taken their departure. Yesterday was a day of solemn interest. Mr. Talcott preached from Romans 6:13. 'What then? Shall we sin because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid.'"

"At the close of his sermon he admonished these two young men to live near to God; their tongues to keep from speaking guile; their hands to withhold from evil; their feet from impious ways; their eyes to refrain from seeing and their ears from hearing evil; with every faculty to serve the Lord and to live near to God."

After the sermon, Deacon Joseph A. Tanner (who was to become a leader in the new town of Waverly) and who gave to Illinois his son, Edward A. Tanner, minister and educator) took an affectionate farewell of the old Connecticut Sunday school. He enjoined the importance of reviewing their past lives, the necessity of repentance and faith to prepare for their next meeting which in all probability, he said, would be at the bar of God.

Little did this saintly man think that after only two years in his new home in the west, he himself would be called before the bar of God.

His simple cabin home, one of the first built in Waverly was open to all travelers and it was here in this home he named the "Range" that he called together all who would join in Sabbath Day services. One year later, early in 1836, eight adults, all Eastern people, joined themselves into an organization known as the Congregational Church. But Deacon Tanner did not live to see the erection of the church building in 1847 nor to see the progress that was slowly but surely changing the wide empty prairie into a community of Christian homes in the midst of a state destined to become one of the strongest in the union.

"It is all cook, cook, cook." You say this is a familiar complaint—that all women complain of the daily round of cooking for the household? At least it is nothing new, for in Waverly, one hundred years ago, one of Waverly's pioneer women wrote in a letter to friends in the East:

"As we have only fifteen of our own family, three travelers and three workmen to get breakfast for I could think of no time when I should have more leisure than while one family was eating. It is all cook, cook, cook. We can hardly get time to wash or mend. Are we homesick? We are so occupied we have no time to spare, but when the Sabbath returns it looks desolation itself. Some part of the family went to Pinhook to meeting yesterday. We heard a Circuit Preacher from the East. It seemed more like preaching than usual."

Another tired woman wrote the same day: "I am tired of living and think sometimes I will run away to Connecticut, then I think of being there and walking through the streets and no one will speak to me."

When we think of the primitive homes of a century ago, where cooking was done in huge kettles hung in smoky fireplaces, we wonder how these Godly women endured the heavy work that fell to their lot. Cooking meals three times a day in primitive fashion, living in crowded quarters in cabins lighted by candles, washing probably in the small streams, it is no wonder, we think, that at times they wished to run away from it all.

Yet they endured—they built schools for their little ones, they organized churches and through it all they held to their high idealism. In true New England fashion, the men of this little community surveyed and laid out the town they had created. Straight and wide are the streets they laid, measuring a mile from corner to corner. In the center of the town they placed the village green, fashioned no doubt after their own beloved Eastern homes. It stands today a living memorial to those sturdy pioneer folk who had vision enough, courage enough and determination enough to build in the wide prairie state.

Harness Horse Sets New Mark

Toledo, O., July 4.—(P)—A world record for the mile pace was broken today at the afternoon session of the grand circuit meeting at Port Miami track today when Calumet Evelyn, owned by McConville brothers of Odenburg, Pa., turned the oval in 2:00.1 in the first heat of the Maumee free-for-all pace, the feature event of the program.

Driver Vic Fleming piloted the black mare to the new mark over J. E. Vonian and a field of four others and succeeded in taking the event in straight heats. Vonian furnished the competition in both heats and finished second in each.

In the second Evelyn cooled down and came in in 2:03.3.

Third place was split between Miss Abbeale and Dick Reynolds the Miss taking the position in the first heat and Dick in the other.

The former record for four-year old was made at Springfield, Ill., two years ago by Rose Marie Abbe. Her time was 2:02.1.

Another bright spot in the program which attracted 3,000 holiday spectators was the finish of the second heat of the second race when Hollywood Phillips came through to pay $2 ticket holders $108.20. Place prize was $37.50 and show $10.40.

The race was a three heat affair with Tara, a bay mare driven by Tom Berry declared the winner by taking the first and third heats. She was second to the longshot in the driving finish second heat.

Three Missing In Ohio Flood Waters

Martins Ferry, O., July 4.—(P)—Flood waters, driven by rains of cloudburst proportions, rushed through towns and farm land in the widely separated counties of Ohio today.

Sheriff Howard A. Duff of Belmont county said three children were reported missing there and Sheriff F. D. Mason said heavy loss of livestock occurred in Knox county.

Rising suddenly, Wheeling creek sent torrents of water through a half dozen small Belmont county mining towns. The water rose to the roof tops of homes in Barton and many private garages and automobiles and the Fairport township office buildings were carried away.

Sheriff Duff said the Belmont county damages might total $100,000.

RUTH PLAYS BALL

New York, July 4.—(P)—Babe Ruth returned to baseball—unorganized—today.

He played with the married men of the Westchester Country Club at Rye against the club's bachelors.

The Babe got a circuit court in the second inning and in the seventh smote a two-bagger that brought in the winning run for the benedict.

The score was 13 to 12.

ORLEANS WOMEN'S COUNTRY CLUB AT COULTAS RESIDENCE

Mrs. Matilda Coultas Entertains Members At Home In Alexander Program Is Enjoyed.

Mrs. Matilda Coultas delightfully entertained the members of the Orleans Women's Country Club and a large number of guests at her home in Alexander on Tuesday afternoon. On arriving each one was given a tiny silk flag. Beautiful garden flowers of many varieties were used in the rooms with pleasing effect. The president, Mrs. Mary Holmes, presided, and the opening number was instrumental music by Mrs. Laura Hallberg of Jacksonville.

After the business session, all joined in the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The club quartette, composed of Mrs. Julia Kamm, Mrs. Helen Drury, Mrs. Grace Davenport, and Hazel Wood, sang two songs, "Can I Leave Thee" and "Bells of St. Mary's."

Mrs. Marie Mattson then read a most interesting paper on "Spices Where They Grow and Their Use."

Mrs. Hazel Wood then gave a splendid review of the book, "The Mystery of Galleon Key," by Phillip Wylie.

Roll call was responded to by naming a historical spot of interest.

The hostess served delicious cooling refreshments during the social hour.

The honorary member of the club Mrs. Rosa Strawn, was present, as were the following guests: Mrs. Glenn Coultas and Mrs. Roy Coultas of Winchester, Mrs. M. S. Zachary, Mrs. Stella Hills, Mrs. Minnie Strawn, Mrs. Laura Hallberg of Jacksonville, Mrs. Walter Gibson, Mrs. Clyde Richardson, Mrs. R. M. Barnes, Mrs. Rider, Mrs. Relf, and Mrs. O. E. Ryan.
